

*...As he took the towel and basin, not as master, but as friend,
Christ portrayed the way of service; still in serving we must bend.*

Maundy Thursday—the night of the Last Supper. A night that would end in betrayal, arrest, and denial. The night that set the final act in motion for Jesus’ ultimate triumph. It started off innocently enough for the disciples. They were gathering with their teacher for the Passover dinner and the inevitable conversation that would follow. But then the dinner took a startling turn as Jesus became their servant and began washing their feet.

Pastor Glyn’s message tonight, “Be Clean! Be Kind!” examines the towel and basin and what they meant to the disciples and also to us in our lives today. That night Jesus knew that he would be betrayed...but he provided a final, vivid demonstration of powerful love and humble service.

We invite you to join in fully tonight and over the next days. As you partake of communion this evening, remember the significance of the towel and basin, and allow your heart to experience the wonder of a love shown to the loveless and of a sacrifice beyond imagination.

*Come to the altar, the Father’s arms are open wide.
Forgiveness was bought with the precious blood of Jesus Christ.*

Hallelujah!

Choral Charge:

Wash Their Feet

P. Choplin

There one night in the Upper Room, he laid aside his robe.
He wrapped a towel around his waist like a servant’s clothes.
Then my Master, Lord and King kneeled to do this amazing thing:

He washed their feet. He got down on his knees and washed their feet.
Why would my Master, Lord and King come to do this amazing thing?
He washed their feet.

*The Lord said: As I come to wash your feet to make you pure and clean, go out now and touch the world; do what you have seen.
Hear my call and live it true: do for them what I do for you.*

*Go, wash their feet. Be a servant, humble and meek, wash their feet.
Hear my call and live it true, do for them what I do for you.
Go, wash their feet.*

When the Lord left heaven to come down, he laid aside his glory and his crown.
He did not cling to power or follow after fame. Still, all heaven sings the glory of his name.

*So wash their feet. Be a servant, humble and meek...
Now go! Wash their feet.*

There one night in the Upper Room, he laid aside his robe.
